BOY, 11, IS HIT BY AUTO NEAR ABBOTTSTOWN

An 11-year-old boy was struck and seriously injured Saturday afternoon as he ran across the Abbottstown-East Berlin highway at his home in the path of a southbound automobile being operated by Harry Barr Snavely, 24, 230 East Grand avenue, Hershey. The accident occurred about 3:45 o'clock.

Struck by the front of the automobile the boy was thrown about 20 feet. Picked up along the berm of the highway and rushed to the Hanover hospital where he was first believed to be critically hurt, the boy said he did not know how the accident had happened.

The victim, Ottis C. Livingston, Jr., Abbottstown R. D., was reported to be much improved at the Hanover hospital today. His injuries include a fracture of the right collarbone, a fracture of the right leg and a possible fracture of the skull. X-ray examinations were to be made to determine the extent of the head injuries

Ottis is reported to have been playing about the barn on his father's property where a number of men were at work filling the silo. The boy started across the road from the barn which is on the east side of the road toward his home on the opposite side of the highway. Apparently he did not see the Snavely car as it topped a grade to the north of the buildings until it was close upon him, then, becoming frightened he stopped, hesitated and started back toward the barn.

Snavely had swerved his car to the left in an effort to pass back of the boy, but as the latter changed his mind and started back to the east side of the road, he stepped directly into the path of the car.

None of the men at work by the silo a short distance away saw the collision, they told Officer C. E. Waltemyer of the local sub-station of the state motor police, who investigated. Snavely told the officer his speed was about 35 or 40 miles an hour when he hit the lad.

The only damage to the automobile was at the radiator grille where the child had been hit.

Damage to the Smeltzer car was estimated at $15 while the Marks car was not damaged beyond the extent of $3.

"In order to bear the fruit of the Spirit of God we must be in contact with the life-giving power. Jesus said that He is the vine, we are the branches and we can only bear fruit when we allow Him to live in us through His Spirit.

"Christians speak of the joy and peace which our Lord Jesus Christ came to give, but they themselves are not living above their worries and cares and worldly discomfitures."

"Happiness depends upon what happens. Joy prevails no matter what happens.

China Protests to League

Geneva, Aug. 30 (AP). — The Chinese delegation to the League of Nations told The Associated Press today it was filing with the league a protest against "Japan's aggression in China."

Thus the United States officially will be informed, because it participated in the meeting of the advisory committee.

Threaten Strike to Delay Ship

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—A CIO threat to prevent an American ship from carrying war supplies to China added a new problem today to the difficulties raised for federal officials by the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Ralph Emerson, legislative representative for the National Maritime union, predicted a sit-down strike by union seamen would prevent the government-owned freighter, Wichita, from reaching China with a cargo of bombing planes and barbed wire.

"It will never get past Manila," Emerson said.

4 Planes Attack Ship

Shanghai, Aug. 30 (AP)—Four Chinese warplanes dumped bombs on the majestic United States Dollar liner, the President Hoover, in the high seas off the China coast today.

Seven members of the Hoover's crew were wounded and three passengers suffered shell shock. Two of the seamen were gravely hurt.

The bombs tore gaps in the Hoover's hull at several points above the water line, but she came about and proceeded toward Kobe, Japan, under her own power.

Two American destroyers steamed at forced draft to the scene in response to the liner's calls for medical aid. But, already, the British warship Cumberland was at her side.

Apparently the bombs were aimed at two Japanese destroyers which were maneuvering in the vicinity of the Hoover.

United States Consul General Clarence E. Gauss immediately reported the bombing to Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson at Nanking.

Johnson rushed to the Chinese government to call official attention to the incident.

Japan meanwhile massed army and navy forces for a general onslaught against the estimated half million of Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's warriors who are about Shanghai and other cities of Kiangsu province.

Warfare came closer to the international area of Shainghai itself.

A huge shell, believed to have been fired by a Chinese gun, exploded in Japanese lines in Northern Shanghai, close to the international settlement.

Many were killed; a wide area was in flames.

Chinese Admit Bombing

Nanking, China, Aug. 30 (AP).—China's National Government tonight accepted full responsibility for the bombing of the United States Dollar liner President Hoover off the Shanghai coast.

"The incident was a most regrettable, unfortunate mistake by a Chinese pilot," the Chinese foreign office announced.

"The government is willing to make full redress."

Authorities said "one" Chinese pilot had bombed the Hoover by mistake, thinking he was hitting a Japanese troop transport.

Japanese warships were nearby at the time.

Minister Says Religion Needs "Spirit" Contact

Sunday so that He would find them in Church and would not want Christ to find them in their occupations and pleasures of the other days of the week are defeated Christians, and their number is legion.

"A Christian living victoriously is one who has yielded himself to God completely. Paul looked upon the things which he had surrendered in order to be Christ's and setting them along side of Christ he called them rubbish and worthless.

"We need a crisis every now and then in our life to bring us to our senses. We are told 'Have faith in God,' but we have not yielded our whole selves to Him and depended on Him entirely. We feel as though there are certain things of the world that we must keep or we will no longer keep alive. I call upon you to do some deep thinking on your utter need of a sincere faith. God said that none of His shall want any good thing. Do you take Him at His word? He fulfills all His promises.

"The devil's worship is self. All our troubles come because of the love of self. Give your self to God and allow Him to give you all that He has to bestow upon you. We, who call ourselves His, do not nearly know what joy He will give to the one who absolutely surrenders all.

"Nothing 'just happens' to a Christian who has given himself entirely to the Lord. There is something more in Christianity than the average Christian has. For a Christian it should be easier to do right than wrong.

"The great need of Church members today is not more and more of the same thing which they have been doing, but something new. Jesus had it. Paul had it. Now and then we see a Christian today who has it. It is being filled by the Spirit so that they live in the Spirit and walk in the Spirit.

"Our lives as Christians should reflect our Saviour so that all who see us will see Christ and seek after the fruit of the Spirit which they see in us," the pastor concluded.

MOTHER KILLS SELF AND HER SIX CHILDREN

Denison, Ia., Aug. 30—(AP)—Seven bodies—A mother and her six children—lay in a funeral home today, victims of a farm home tragedy that Coroner John Gottburg said was murder and suicide.

The dead were:

Mrs. Elsie Nollen 30, Leona, four, Viola, two, Orvin, 11, Wilbert, 10, Pauline, seven, Earl, six.

Leaving a suicide note which told of marital unhappiness, Mrs. Nollen took the lives of her children and herself by sending deadly automobile exhaust gas from the family car into a bedroom window of her home.

"I have tried and tried to live a decent life," Mrs. Nollen said in the six-page, penciled note, "and raise my kids up right so they would be decent. X X X

"But they have a father that does not care for them or either me. He don't know any better. X X X

"Albert was awfully good to me when he wasn't drinking. But oh, he sure was awful when he got drunk! X X X

"He has beat me up lots of times and I always forgot about that just because I loved him and wanted to live with him. X X X.

"Now today he got drunk. I never said much to him because I knew it would just be a fight again. X X X."

Albert Nollen, 36, the husband and father, found the family car backed up under a bedroom window with the motor running Sunday. Then he found the bodies.

13 DIE IN STATE

(By The Associated Press)

Highway mishaps killed eight of 13 persons who died in accidents in Pennsylvania over the week-end. Three children drowned, a Philadelphia rookie policeman accidentally fired a shot which killed a 19-year-old girl, and a roofer died in a 20-foot fall from a scaffold.

GIANTS WITHIN HALF-GAME OF NATIONAL LEAD

(By The Associated Press)

Get your nickels ready, folks. It looks like another subway series.

What with one thing and another, those galloping Giants seemed headed today for another of their stretch miracles, such as wound up with the pennant a year ago and gave little old New York a world series monopoly.

From the wreckage of a weekend of walloping that saw Bill Terry's Terriers all but overhaul the Cubs in the National league pennant putsch, and the western half of the National league collapse, it began to look like you could do worse than parlay the Giants and history to repeat.

Paralleling their 1936 dash from second division to the championship, they pulled up to within a bare two percentage points of the collapsible Cubs Sunday, with a 7-2 win over the Cincinnati's sinking Reds.

The climax of their surge, however, was just one of the miracles worked in the course of the afternoon. Take a look at some of these:

Connie Mack's confounding Athletics, for whom rest and quiet should be prescribed after the belting around they've taken all season, turned in one of the year's clubbing masterpieces against the White Sox. They scored 12 runs in the first inning, six of them batted in by Bob Johnson, for a pair of American league records, as they took the opener of a doubleheader, 16-0. The Sox slipped in with the nightcap, 5-3.

The A's equally unpredictable neighbors, the fidgety Phillies, topped a five-game winning streak against first division outfits by banging the Cubs around, 10-3. In their opener, with a barrage of four homers, and still held sixth place despite a 2-1 setback in the nightcap.

The daffy Dodgers pounded Pittsburgh's pathetic Pirates in both ends of a twin bill, 5-3 and 6-3, and climbed out of the National league cellar, with the Reds dropping in.

Ray Harrell, an up-and-downer who hasn't been much help to the Cardinals this season, just missed a no-hitter by the margin of a sixth inning single as he pitched the "Gas House" gang to a 3-0 win over the Boston Bees in their double bill nightcap, after the Bees took the opener, 3-2.

Bob Feller allowed only four walks and still lost the ball game to the five-hit pitching of Young Kendall Chase, whose unexpected elbowing ability gave the Senators a 6-2 decision over the Indians, after the Tribe clubbed out an 11-4 edge in their first game.

If the Giants, who have been fortunate in getting a combination of timely hitting and effective pitching of their own and obliging nose-dives on the part of their strongest rivals, were as certain of their crown as the Yanks are of the American league laurels, things would be simple. The Yanks moved 12½ games in front Sunday with a 7-4 win over the Tigers as Lou Gehrig clouted homer No. 30 and Red Ruffing pitched victory No. 17.

Buck Newsom turned in a four-hitter to give the Red Sox a 2-0 win over the Browns in the opener of a doubleheader, but the Brownies belted three other guys, 8-3, in the nightcap.

Louis Still Favored to Defeat Farr

New York, Aug. 30 (AP)—The good fairies, if any, that flit about and protect the boxing game from violent harm have a job ahead of them tonight at the Yankeet Stadium, providing promotor Mike Jacobs doesn't think he smells rain again.

Tommy Farr, the visiting problem child, is supposed to fight Champion Joe Louis for 15 rounds, and the little fellows had better be in there slugging on Joe's side every minute if they are to earn their keep.

Nobody wants the Welshman to get hurt—not seriously. Even Mike Jacobs would be willing to settle for a nice, comfortable Louis victory on points. But everybody seems agreed it would be a triple-plated catastrophe if Tommy actually should saw the limb off behind all the experts and win the title, like he's been threatening.

Although he has the Welshman sewed up tighter than a telephone booth, win or lose, Jacobs has been noticed to blanch slightly at the mere suggestion that Farr might win. Joe Louis, as champion, is a meal ticket that Mike, by all rights, has only just begun to punch.

Mike has been gleefully predicting a crowd of 40,000 and a $400,000 gate tonight since new customers kept coming right along after last Thursday's postponement.

The 5 to 1 odds that Louis will retain his newly-won crown tonight reflect the young Negro's personal popularity almost equally with the public's faith in the terrific punch that carried him to the top.

Legless Swimmer Ends Jaunt After 147 Hours in Hudson

New York, Aug. 30 (AP)—Charley Zimmy, 43-year-old legless swimmer, claimed today to have bettered every long-distance, non-stop and endurance swimming record in the books after paddling 145 miles from Albany to New York in 147 hours and 37 minutes.

Weary but grinning as handlers wiped from him a heavy protective covering of greast and a few barnacles, he announced:

"My next hop will be from Key West to Havana."

He said the non-stop ocean swim—about 85 miles—would be attempted in November or December.

Zimmy, some 37 pounds lighter than when he entered the Hudson river at Albany last Monday at 5:03 p. m. (E. S. T.), swam past his goal—the 127th street pier—at 8:30 Sunday night.

Powered by a handful of raw hamburger and a jigger of cognac, he swam a mile and a quarter further downstream before docking at 98th street amid the shrieking whistles of nearby pleasure craft.

Zimmy smoked 300 cigars in his 6-day marathon.

He apparently was in fine condition but was sent to a hospital to rest.

MIDWAY LOSES TO FAIRFIELD BY SCORE, 11-0

In a game featured by sparkling outfield defense and correct infield play, the Fairfield nine defeated Midway by a score of 11 to 0 in the second playoff game in the county baseball league. The game was played at Fairfield. In the other playoff tilt, Gettysburg defeated Arendtsville on the former's diamond, 4-3.

Rebert, who has been a regular catcher for Fairfield this season, pitched Saturday's game and limited the Midway aggregation to one hit. This was of the infield variety and was made by Markle, who beat it out at first in a close play. Rebert pitched three games during the last season.

The third and deciding game of the series will probably be played next Saturday. Arrangements have not been completed.

Fairfield scored nine runs on six hits, two bases on balls and two errors in the second inning.

Midway had runners on third base in the second, sixth and ninth innings, but failed to score. Two men also were left stranded on second.

The big second inning started off with Rebert getting a clean single, followed by Musselman who laid down a bunt and beat it for a hit. H. Herring advanced both with a sacrifice and they scored a moment later when Weikert singled.

Donaldson placed a bunt along the third base line and turned it into a hit by fast running and Kittinger duplicated when he dumped a bunt along the first base line for another hit. At this point Abel was relieved of pitching duties and L. Weaver went to the mound. N. Herring, first man to face him sacrificed, scoring Weikert. At this point Weaver developed a streak of wildness, passing both L. McGlaughlin and R. Reindollar, forcing in a run and when two infield errors occurred on the next two batters, Rebert and Musselman, two more runs scored. H. Herring, up for the second time, doubled to right scoring Rebert and Musselman for the eighth and ninth runs of the inning. Weikert struck out for the third out.

Sports Roundup

— By —
EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Aug. 30 (AP)—Many people think Mickey Cochrane will give up the reins at Detroit after this year and that Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees will succeed him instead of going to Cleveland. . . . Mike Jacobs was only joshing when he offered Max Schmeling 12½ per cent of the gate to fight the Louis-Farr winner here in October. . . . Mike knows that show would kill his "carnival of champions" billed for September 23. . . . Also he knows Max isn't interested in 12½ per cent. . . . If the German fights in this country this year it will be in Philadelphia or Chicago. . . . A better bet is, the fight will go over to next June with Max getting at least 25 per cent of the gate.

If Farr beats Louis tonight, just listen to tthat limb crash with all the fight writers aboard. . . . Abe Feldman's knock down of Tommy Farr was on the level.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm, who has played 'em all, rates Don Budge better than Perry any day in the week, but says Ellsworth Vines could make 'em all look bad. . . . Those 5 to 1 odds on Louis and Farr will soar by ring-time—you can get on that. . . . Bookmakers say less than $10,000 of Farr money has been laid on the line in New York.

Fight tip: The same experts who picked Louis against Schmelling are choosing him against Farr. . . . Make your bets accordingly. . . . We'll take Louis in four heats and don't see how you can do anything else.

TENNIS DOUBLES FINALS

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 30 (AP)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm and Herr Henner Henkel today found themselves facing Don Budge and Gene Mako for the third time this season as the 56th national doubles tennis tournament reached the final round at Longwood. The Germans, the first foreigners to qualify for the final since 1925, met Budge and Mako, defending champions, twice in Surope, and were defeated each time, in the Wimbledon and interzone Davis cup finals.

$450,000 BILL FOR WPA MATERIALS

Washington (AP).—The cost of keeping relief workers busy is not alone the payment of salaries, but also includes materials totaing nearly $450,000,000.

The federal, state, county and local governments have sunk that much money in materials since WPA started, says Aubrey Williams, Harry Hopkins' deputy.

But, he adds, the federal government shouldered most of the burden, or about 59 per cent.

VILLAGE TAKES A REST ONCE EVERY SUNDAY

Amherst, O. (AP).—When this village of 2,800 population relaxes, it doesn't just make believe. It has no historic date to commemorate, so once each summer it shuts up shop and has a "picnic" just for the fun of it. All stores close, most of the housewives serve cold suppers, and the townsfolk spend the day participating in a parade and street games. This year some 2,000 rural residents went to town to share in the sport.

AND LOOK! GOODRICH INVADES LOW-PRICED TIRE FIELD

If you're looking for a low-priced quality tire, this full dimension Commander will give you miles of extra service at a rock bottom price.

THOUSANDS of motorists are killed or injured—thousands of dollars are spent for repairs, doctor and hospital bills every year when blow-outs throw cars out of control.

Keep your name out of the accident columns. Many of the blow-outs you hear and read about altogether too often are due to the heat generated inside of tires by today's high-speed driving. This terrific heat may cause rubber and fabric to separate. And, if it does, an invisible blister forms. Bigger and BIGGER it grows until, sooner or later, BANG! You have a blow-out.

That's why Goodrich engineers invented the Life-Saver Golden Ply found only in Silvertown tires. This amazing Goodrich invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. By resisting this heat the Golden Ply protects you against these dangerous high-speed blow-outs.

Don't Gamble

The safe thing to do is to come in right now. Equip your car with Golden Ply Silvertown Tires all 'round. You pay no price premium for these life-saving tires and they'll give you months of extra trouble-free mileage.

A DANGEROUS RUNNER

THE Puddle Muddlers were having a baseball game. Honey Bear had struck out two of the opposing team, but had gone a little wild and had given Rip, the dog, a base on balls. Now he was on first base and getting Honey Bear very nervous as he danced around.

Now she threw to Mr. Quacko who was covering first base. Rip slid back and was safe and then he made a dash for second. Honey Bear threw so wildly that the ball went far out into the meadow and Rip rounded third base. Furiously he ran now for home and reached the plate before the ball had been thrown to Blacky.

Mrs. Quacko then got a clean single and waddled as quickly as she could down to first base. If she had been quicker she could have stretched it into a two-bagger, but she was pretty proud anyway.

However, Sweet Face was the next one at bat and he hit a ball up in the air which was caught by Blacky.

Now Christopher Columbus Crow's team was at bat and Jelly Bear was pitching. Jelly Bear had decided it was easier for him to be a right-handed (or armed) pitcher. The first two at bat did not get the ball out of the infield, but when Willy Nilly came to bat he hit a home run.

How his side all shrieked with glee and patted him and shook his hand as he came in. And now the score was 1 to 1. In the eighth inning Jelly Bear hit the ball for a nice Texas leaguer—right between the infield and outfield players, and Sweet Face got a two-bagger. It was Rip again who got on first base and tried to work a triple steal, but the others could not manage it. All their hopes and chances in this inning went for nothing.

—By George Matthew Adams—

AS IS

WE WOULD be so much happier in this life if we accepted more things exactly as they are, and as they come to us. The gospel of acceptance is a wonderful thing!

Most of the things that happen are for our own good—even those happenings that temporarily disturb and seem a little tragic. Nothing that happens can be changed, anyway. We must learn to be on the alert and expect to be continually challenged. The supreme court of our conscience can allow no dissension, after it has given its decision. If we would earn respect we must demand that decision as final.

Whether it rains or shines, whether it is sorrow or joy, hardship or ease, that is our lot; let us take it all—AS IS!

But to get our share of the joys of this world, its beauties, its endless opportunities, its exhaustless gifts, let us banish fear from our hearts and our minds and look ahead with confidence. Above all, let us not fear harm, or wicked gossip, or the tattlings of sick minds. Let us fearlessly walk ahead, knowing that we may ever be led by a safe, unseen hand.

Many a vacation has been made unhappy by a rain, or car trouble, or unpleasant happenings. These things, however, are trivial in themselves. A heart philosophy, backed by a mind attitude, of peace, and a generous acceptance of everything AS IS, does more to keep the nerves calm and the bodily functions in good order than anything else.

We can't make things unhappen! All we can do is to take things as they come, accept them, and do the best we can under the circumstances. Learn to pass on!

Life is a continual movement, changes ever in the making, and we never know what a morrow may bring forth—but we can always expect the best! That will go a long way toward a peaceful frame of mind and a satisfactory experience. Here are a few lines from Stevenson:

"Let the blow fall soon or late,
Let what will be o'er me;
Give the face of earth around,
And the road before me."

THE DARK SHIPS

By HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: A lovers' tiff parts Neill, a young federal agent, and Janet in Baltimore. She won't break a date with wealthy, flashy Prescott Fanning whom Neill distrusts. Next day a myterious phone call tells Neill Janet's in trouble on Fanning's yacht at Absalom's Harbor. Rushing there, he finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill rows her to the disused liners kept up the river. They climb aboard, dodge a watchman and find the best suite. Neill makes a rope ladder, then leaves Janet hidden on the ship and gets pack to the village hotel before dawn.

Chapter 13

TWO CAMPERS ARRIVE

Neill slept for an hour. His anxieties would not permit him to rest any longer, and he was up and sitting on the porch of the store next door before any other person in the village was stirring.

The Nadji lay out in the harbor, clean cut in the pure light of morning. White paint, mahogany and brass all spick and span. Nothing to suggest that a dead man lay aboard. Her dinghy was tied to a boom amidships, so the crew must have returned. Neill waited for developments.

At 7 o'clock Virgil Longcope came down the little hill back of the store, whistling out of tune and swinging a big key. He was a leathery, middle-sized man wearing a wrinkled store suit of no particular color and a derby placed just so. This outfit made him stand out among the boots and jumpers of the other villagers. Virgil had a cracked voice, a bright eye and an expression of sly, good humor.

"Hello, Stranger! You're up early."

"Well, I came down here to get a little sea air," said Neill, "and this is the best time of day to smell it."

"I reckon," said Virgil, "though I don't notice it myself no more. You ought to been here when the fish-fertilizer factory across the harbor was working. Gemmen! we had strong air then!"

Neill laughed to humor him. He thought: The killing is not yet known or he would speak of it.

Having opened up his store, Virgil sat down beside Neill and chewed his cigar.

The principal wharf of the place extended out in front of the store, and the whole panorama of village life unrolled before them—men on their way to work in the shipyard; professional fishermen chugging in from the bay with the night's catch and amateurs starting out with lunch baskets and tackle. No sign of movement aboard the yacht Nadji as yet. One of Virgil's first customers was a mild old man who drove up in a faded sedan.

"'Morning, Captain Bickel!" sang Virgil. They went into the store together.

Neill remembered that this was the name of the caretaker of the big ships, and kept his eye on the door so that he could put himself in Captain Bickel's way when he came out. He wanted information.

Quizzing The Caretaker

Meanwhile the lanky fisherman named Jake had taken a seat on Neill's bench.

"Mr. Longcope is quite a character," Neill said.

"'Deed I doggone swear is he," said Jake. "He's a character, Virgil is. He loves a dicker. He'll take half a day to overreach you a dollar's worth, and hand you five. Everybody cusses Virgil out, but he gets their vote when he wants to run for anything. He owns pret' near ev'thing hereabouts, the best farms, the best timber, but he don't never grow rich because he's too soft-hearted. Come a hard winter when the river freezes over and there's no oystering nor fishing, this village would starve if it wasn't for Virgil. He carries them all."

When Captain Bickel came out of the store, he found Neill standing beside his car.

"Morning, Captain. I saw your ships when I came down the road yesterday. Is a person allowed to go aboard?"

"You have to get a permit from the department of commerce, young man. I ain't authorized to let anybody aboard."

"Do you have many visitors?"

"No, sir. Them ships has been forgotten. Nobody asks to go aboard and the department ain't over-anxious to issue permits."

"Why is that?"

"We're afraid of fire. Don't want folks moseying around on board and dropping cigarette butts."

"I suppose they send down inspectors from time to time."

"Sure, the first of every month."

Two weeks thought Neill. He said: "The cabins must be fixed up pretty fine."

"Sure. But we don't trouble the cabins. We keep 'em locked. Our job is to keep the hulls free of rust and the engines greased."

"How many men have you?"

"Four of us sleep aboard. Me, my foreman and a couple watchmen. I hire what painters and oilers I need by the day."

"Must be pretty lonely at night, just the four of you on those big ships."

"We sticks pretty close together." The old man smiled.

He drove back up the road.

Ketterings, Father and Son

Neill looked out at the Nadji. Still no sign of life aboard. The suspense was hard to bear. Virgil Longcope rejoined him.

A new gray sedan drove up. In it there were two men wearing fishing clothes, and the back compartment was heaped with a tent, folding cots and other camping impedimenta. Of the two passengers, one was middle-aged, spare of frame, with lanky blonde hair hanging over his forehead, a long nose and a hearty, voluble manner. The other was as different a type as could be—young, husky, dark-skinned and silent—yet they were stamped as father and son.

The older man got out. "Good morning, gentlemen! Good morning! Which of you is the storekeeper?"

"Me," said Virgil, turning over his well-chewed cigar.

The other thrust out his hand. "Delighted to meet you, Mr. Longcope. The name is Horace Kettering, lawyer of Baltimore. Yonder is my son Horace, junior."

Neill took sharp notice of the speaker. Strange that this man whom he had looked for in vain should turn up now! It was too late to ask him questions about Fanning, but as a friend of Janet's family, he might be of help.

"What can I do for you?" asked Virgil.

"Me and my son have come down for a few days' fishing," said Kettering. "We like to camp out, get close to nature and all that, you know, and I wanted to ask you if there was any place nearby where we could pitch our tent?"

"Sure. Just keep on around the harbor road, and on the other side of the point you will come to a little open field. The campers pitch there."

"Much obliged," said Kettering. "How's fishing?"

"Not bad," said Longcope. "No rock yet, but plenty of hardhead. And the trout are biting."

"Bait?"

"Oh, any God's amount of soft-crabs."

JANET CHATS WITH A MERCHANT

There is a man who runs a shop
Where Janet and her mother stop.
The merchant there has gowns to sell,
And now the simple truth to tell
So often do they visit there
He's grown to know my lovely pair.

The time has come, I grieve to own
When Janet shopping goes alone,
And with an independent mind
Sets out to seek what she may find.
For many times has mother said:
"I'm tired! Suppose you go instead."

One day the merchant (curse his wiles)
Met Janet roaming through the aisles.
And bowed and scraped as merchants do
Who seek their patrons' trade to woo.
Then said, because he had to speak,
"I saw your mother here last week."

I'll say for Janet, spoken to,
She knows the proper thing to do;
She may not get the answer right,
But she will always be polite,
"You did! That's nice of you to tell!"
Said Janet. "Was she looking well?"

San Diego, Calif.—A Calexico, California, school teacher told the sheriff's office she left her three-room furnished house at nearby Imperial beach intact two months ago. Then furniture disappeared. The doors, then the windows and walls followed.

FIRE'S OUT—SO IS FIREMAN

St. Paul—Fireman Peter Griven put out a fire in the Gus Peterson home, but Peterson's bulldog put out Griven. The Petersons were away and neighbors, smelling smoke, called the fire department. Griven went in through a rear window and put out a blaze on an ironing board. In came the bulldog, and out went Griven.

SAVED!

Chicago—Police played the role of housebreakers—to save the house.

Sergeant George Schulpolsky received a long distance call from Robert C. Sitting, who motored with his family to Silverlake, Wisconsin, before he remembered he left the water heater burning in his home. "Do something, Sergeant, or the whole house may blow up," Sittig pleaded. Two policemen hurried to the home, smashed a basement window, entered and turned off the heater.

RATTLES OF 2600 B. C. REACH MUSEUM

Chicago (AP)—Rattles shaken by babies in 2600 B. C. have been received by the Field Museum in Chicago from the Field Museum-Oxford University joint archaeological expedition in Mesopotamia.

The rattles are made of pottery in shapes of animals, such as hedgehogs and boats. They are hollow and contain one or more pebbles for noise making.

Modernization Continues Popular in Most Sections

OUT of all the diverse modernization programs being adopted by American home owners, the favorite one seems to be in kitchens and bathrooms. People are discovering that the added convenience and beauty of such undertakings are well worth the cost, which is really reasonable.

Consequently, builders all over the country are receiving calls for plans and estimates and are going ahead with actual work in many homes.

Kitchens in particular have improved greatly in the past few years. Color, mechanical appliances, and thoughtful designing, have all tended to make kitchens as attractive as any room in the house! Outstanding among modern kitchen features are built-in sinks of gleaming porcelain or stainless metal, with wide drainboards, electrical appliances.

FALL IS TIME FOR THE ANNUAL HOME CHECKUP

THE annual nation-wide burst of fall clean-up activity is on . . . home owners are busily checking, fixing, remodeling, repairing and modernizing their homes. Activity of this sort is a wise move for every home owner. Fixing up means more comfort, more happiness . . . a better looking home and a greater resale value should you want to sell it! Fall is the best time to fix-up, since the "indoor season" is just around the corner!

The fixing up of any home begins with a thorough inspection . . . checking through from cellar to roof.

Of price importance in the fall check-up is the heating plant, which if suspected of being out of order should be examined by a competent heating engineer. He will, if necessary, take the proper steps for the repair of the heating plant, so that you can be sure of economical and efficient heating. Going up in your home, next you should examine the floors, for sanding and refinishing; the walls, for re-plastering and repapering; the ceilings, for replastering and kalsomining; the plumbing, for leaks and places that may cause trouble in cold weather; the wiring, for worn or bare spots, for short circuits, or for fire dangers; the chimney, for re-facing, repair and for the elimination of fire hazards.

Every home owner should seriously consider insulating his home. Proper insulation is a real investment in comfort, and, in all probability, will materially decrease your fuel bills! There are many good types of insulation on the market . . wall boards, thick insulation board, fibrous, wool types. This latter type is stuffed in the space between the walls and acts as a non-conducting element . . . efficiently repelling heat and cold. Insulation increases both winter and summer comfort!

Re-painting the exterior should also be considered. By doing this, the house is not only improved in appearance, but it is also protected from deterioration by the weather, rot and insects.

COLOR IS VOGUE IN NEW KITCHEN

Color, and lots of it, is the vogue for modern kitchens, according to a survey recently completed by a group of prominent household authorities.

With both contrasting and harmonizing colors of the spectrum now open to free choice, kitchens seem destined for a "bright future, for the next few years at least."

The trend toward gayer, brighter kitchens is already in evidence in new real estate developments throughout Gettysburg—more and more local builders are specifying brilliant shades for their "culinary studios."

Hailed as the starting point of the modern kitchen and certainly an all-important item in every builder's plans, the modern gas range has played an important part in making homemakers "color conscious."

New 1937 models, especially, have brought to the foreground color combinations like red and black, green and ivory, red and white.

INSTALL SWINGING DOOR

A swinging door between kitchen, pantry, and dining room is a great convenience. This should be remembered when a new home is being built.

WIDE HEARTH PRETTY

The hearth in front of a fireplace should be at least eighteen inches deep. Not only does a wide hearth look better but it also serves as a protection when embers from a burning log roll on the floor.

BERLIN CREATES ARTIFICIAL LUXURY

Berlin (AP).—Things seldom are what they seem in the Textile and Fashion School of the City of Berlin, a recent exhibition of students' work revealed.

Gunny-sacking was transformed into rich brocade by means of gilding and patterning in bright colors.

A wig of shimmering artificial silk was adorned with an ostrich feather—of finely snipped felt.

Felt appliqued on tulle at a distance looked like priceless lace.

Everything was made at the school, including wigs of braid, felt, wood-shavings, wool and artificial silk.

SEES NO DANGER IN FUTURE OF REAL ESTATE

ROY WENZLICK, president of Real Estate Analysts and who published a book a year ago predicting a coming boom in real estate, syas that in view of the recent rising costs in building construction he has received many inquiries asking if that condition may not seriously affect future real estate activities.

Mr. Wenzlick's ideas on this opinion, which he admits seems to be held by a large number of persons interested in realty affairs, are presented in the current issue of Freehold, published by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. His answer to these doubtful views, he says, has invariably been "No."

"Rapid rise in construction costs always acts to retard building," he states, "but it is one of the factors which will be primarily responsible for the height of the forthcoming boom. The higher construction costs go, the higher must rents and values on older properties go before any great volume of new building can be done. Higher building costs mean eventually higher values on all useful properties now standing."

GERMANY CLAIMS HELICOPTER RECORD

Berlin (AP).—Army experts are making no secret of the fact that a new German helicopter demonstrated recently at Berlin is an effective substitute for the captive balloon for artillery observation work.

The device, built by Professor Heinrich Focke, attained an altitude of 2,500 meters (8,200 feet) and hovered without noticeable backward or forward motion. It traveled from point to point at a speed of 122.5 kilometers (76 miles) an hour and remained in the air one hour, 20 minutes, 49 seconds. All these are claimed as world records for a helicopter.

Charm In The Colonial Manner

THIS attractive house neatly combines the charm of the colonial period with modern efficiency. It has beauty of line worthy of a more expensive house, and it can be built at comparatively low cost. Careful planning has made this house a model of efficiency . . . there is no wasted space, and at the same time, it's cheerful and pleasant to live in.

Entering the front door, we see how conveniently the rooms are grouped on the first floor. The door opens into a hall; to the left is a large clothes closet; to the right is the entrance to the living room; straight ahead is the entrance to the kitchen. The kitchen, following the popular trend in home planning is in the front of the house.

Built-in cases, a breakfast nook, and space for mechanical equipment are provided. The dining room is located at the rear of the house . . . giving a pleasant view of a rear garden and assuring privacy for the living quarters. . . . It measures 12 by 11¼ feet and provides ample room for all necessary furniture. The large, light living room looks out on both the front and rear lawns. Its dimensions are 11 by 18½ feet and carefully planned wall space provides adequate room for furniture. There is a large colonial style fireplace that will give added pleasure and comfort in the winter time and another feature that will appeal to many is the studio type ceiling.

The stairway leading upstairs is conveniently located at the rear, between the living room and the dining room. A short hall on the second floor separates the two bedrooms and gives access to the bathroom. The front bedroom is light and airy, and measures 12 feet by 10 feet 8 inches. Two large clothes closets, one of them with an outside window, are provided for this room. The second bedroom is 12 feet by 9 feet 2 inches, contains a clothes closet, and, like the other sleeping quarters, has cross ventilation. The bathroom is well planned and conveniently located. The plans for this room call for a medicine cabinet in addition to the other bathroom fixtures. A convenient closet for linen is located in the hall.

Fresh apples contain as much as 1 per cent sugar.

MODERNSCHOOLS ARE BANISHING REPORT CARDS

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—Parents accustomed to threatening Johnny with a whipping if he doesn't bring home a perfect report card are due for a jolt this autumn.

Johnny may not get a report card.

Dr. Mary Dabney Davis, elementary specialist at the office of education, said today many schools are replacing the periodic report card by conferences between teachers and parents.

Others, she said, use a new type card. It not only gives a more detailed report of the child's school activities, but also has blanks for parents to fill out too, regarding the child's outside reading and other home activities.

She said the trend in modern report cards is to devote as much space to behavior as to subjects. Orderliness, cooperation and leadership are closely graded.

Several schools over the country, she said, will open this autumn without the traditional grade-a-year promotion system. Students will be promoted at the end of the third and sixth grades.

To make sure jelly will be clear never squeeze the pulp in the jelly bag. Let the juices drip and strain through a heavy cheese cloth. The pulp may be made into butter or jam—so there is no waste. About one cup of juice is needed for each four cups of pulp, however.

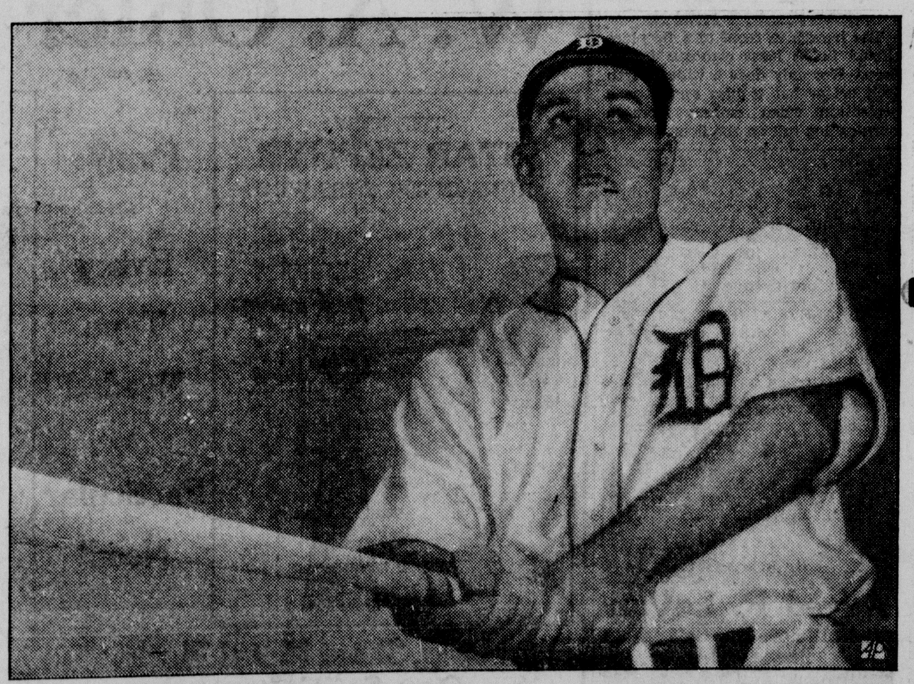
DYNAMIC IS THE WORD FOR RUDY, thinks Detroit Manager Mickey Cochrane (right) as he congratulates his new catcher, Rudolph Preston York, upon producing home runs at a rate unheard of in the baseball world. The 24-year-old former Texas leaguer who has played only two-thirds as many games as Joe Di Maggio this season, has clouted out homers at a far faster rate than the Yankee slugger.

HE COULDN'T MAKE GOOD at first base, so Rudy York became catcher for Detroit. The Tiger titan's ability at the first sack wasn't equal to Hank Greenberg's, so York took one of the other six positions he plays and made Greenberg "look like a bunter."

★ ★



THINGS TO COME within a year, predicts Manager Mickey Cochrane, will include Rudy York's establishment as the greatest home run slugger in the major leagues, perhaps shattering the record established by the mighty Babe Ruth.

Smethport, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—The death of Oscar T. Chase, second Civil war veteran to die here in 10 days, left Smethport without a survivor of the war between the states. MELLON ESTATE IS BEQUEATHED TO CHARITIES

Pittsburgh, Aug. 30 (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon's millions, all to be spent in promotion of mankind's "well doing or well being" will go into a trust which may exceed that of the famed Rockefeller foundation.

Disclosure of the surprising bequest came a few hours after the 82-year-old financier's frail body had been placed Saturday, in a vault beside that of his brother, Richard B., who had helped him amass one of the world's great fortunes.

Donald B. Shepard, Mellon's attorney, said that with the exception of $180,000 to go to personal employes, Mellon's will directed the remainder go to the A. W. Mellon educational and charitable trust.

This organization was established in 1930 to "properly administer and distribute the considerable funds and properties which I contemplate devoting . . . to public, religious and charitable uses and purposes."

Close associates of the financier said his estate would range between 100 and 200 millions with the likelihood that the latter figure will be more nearly correct. John D. Rockefeller gave the Rockefeller foundation more than $182,000,000 in addition to $130,000,000 which he had placed in an educational board established in 1903.

The Mellon trust already had received millions in securities and paintings. The paintings, valued by art experts at about $50,000,000, have been given to the government for a national art museum, which the trust also is building at a cost of more than $9,000,000.

Shepard said Mellon explained in his will that no bequests were made to his children, Paul and Ailsa (Mrs. David K. E. Bruce) because they had been adequately provided for.

Mellon is known to have given his children or a holding company in which they own all of the common stock, more than $300,000,000 worth of securities.

In addition, Shepard said, Mellon's gifts for educational and charitable work during the last seven years has "considerably exceeded $70,000,000."

The question of the taxability of the Mellon estate by the federal government will undergo further scrutiny by bureau of internal revenue experts.

A. F. of L. Will Not Expel C. I. O. Unions

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 30 (AP)—American Federation of Labor leaders have decided informally to leave the door open for a reunion with John L. Lewis' CIO.

This was learned today in well-informed quarters while the Federation's executive council started the second week of its seashore meeting.

Council members decided informally not to expel the ten CIO unions they suspended last September 5, in answer to a demand from a few unions that they sever the last bond between Lewis and the A. F. of L.

'CHICAGO' IN AFRICA

Capetown (AP)—Umtata, capital of the Transkei district of Cape Province, may become a "South African Chicago." Some 4,000,000 native-owned "scrub" cattle in South Africa are creating a problem which it is believed only meat-canning works can solve.
